Ninstints: site haïda du patrimoine mondial, par George F. MacDonald. Ottawa, ©1992. 60p. Figures, ill., références. 25cm. Cartonné.

«Dans ce livre, comme dans sa monographie plus détaillée intitulée Haida Monumental Art, George F. MacDonald décrit la vie, empreinte de sociabilité et de sens pratique, des anciens Haïdas, leurs rapports orageux et parfois lucratifs avec les premiers commerçants européens à l'apogée de la traite maritime des fourrures, ainsi que leurs grandes œuvres d'art et d'architecture. Il traite également des effets désastreux de la petite vérole et autres maladies importées par les Européens et qui anéantirent plus des deux tiers de la population haïda, entraînant l'abandon de nombreux villages comme Ninstints.»—Préface.

«Le présent rapport effectue d'abord un survol du tabagisme chez les Canadiens. On y propose ensuite un résumé des lois régissant l'usage du tabac dans les lieux publics et en milieu de travail au Canada, sur les réactions que suscitent les règlements antitabac. Le cœur du rapport se compose d'une analyse détaillée des données recueillies dans le sondage Alberta 1990, enquête aléatoire menée auprès de 1 245 Albertains adultes. [...] Le rapport se termine par une comparaison de la pertinence qu'accordent les fumeurs aux différents motifs pour arrêter (peut-être) de fumer.»—Introduction.

«Depuis quelques années, la division des Normes de Statistique Canada a maintenu une base de données descriptives, le Système de documentation des données statistiques (SDDS), qui détaille plus de 400 enquêtes et programmes statistiques de Statistique Canada. Pour chacun d'eux, il y a un ensemble normalisé d'informations descriptives disponibles. C'est à partir du SDDS que certains éléments d'information ont été extraits pour cette publication [...] Aux fins de cette publication, il n'a été possible de reproduire que quelques uns des éléments de description des enquêtes et des programmes statistiques, d'indiquer quelques uns des principaux sujets couverts par ceux-ci et d'énumérer les produits statistiques, vers lesquels les données compilées sont diffusées.»—Page xi.

Nor does it tell the stories of the other departments, or of the people responsible for policy development, managing the legislative process, or educating the consumer.
